And What Have You

By BOB CRAIG

The whole staff here at the Herald would like to say "Thank You" for all of the nice things our readers had to say about our new look this past week.

While we had a few minor problems in making the change over, we feel that we can take care of them in the weeks to come.

For the benefit of those who are trying to figure out what we did to make such a change we will try to explain some of the difference.

In spite of how different it looks there is really very little change between the old and the new other than it is printed better. We are still using the same type, the same pictures, and the same display material for the advertisements — the blacks are just blacker. On the pictures, we are able to pick up the full range of tones in the original art.

As strange as it may seem, the eye does not see black. You see whites, colors and tones of grays. This is what makes so much difference when something is printed sharp and black. With weak blacks and grays your eye must distinguish between the gray and the white while with black and white the eye sees only the white and there are no decisions for the mind to make.

This is also the reason it is hard to read very much that is printed in colored ink.

We join everyone else in welcoming Winn's back to Hamlin. We did not know that you could miss a store as much as Winn's has been missed here in the five months since their fire.

We wish them well and hope their faith in the future of Hamlin is justified.

Included in this issue of the paper are the annual congratulations messages to the seniors of this area that will be completing their public schooling this week.

Most of these young men and women will just be ending the first stage of their education and will be going on to college this summer or fall. To these we wish the best of luck and hope that you are able to find the training for a field that will bring you happiness down through the years. And for those that will be finishing up their formal education this week we hope that you find work that offers you a challenge for the future.

In either case, your education is only beginning because the biggest education system we have is daily living.

Congratulations and best wishes to all of you.

Cong. Omar Burleson, in his newsletter this week, joins with Cong. W. R. Poage, chairman of the Agriculture Committee, in disagreeing with the findings of self-appointed agency that says 256 counties in this country are hunger areas.

The report says that these counties are so distressed as to warrant a Presidential declaration naming them as hunger areas," where this agency recommends that new emergency food programs should be immediately instituted.

Prior to this report the Agriculture Department issued a survey on hunger and malnutrition that contradicted this. The Department says that it has ample food to feed anyone in need.

Cong. Poage has written the health officials in each of these counties and in no case do any of these people say that they have actual starvation but did find instances of malnutrition. Most went on to say that malnutrition can occur where food is plentiful. Most of them commented that from their observations many people preferred to be on relief with a limited supply of food than to accept jobs which were available.

But the big waste coming out of all of this is a move underway to name another commission to look into this.

Cong. Burleson adds, "Everyone knows there are people who need help — those who cannot help themselves. These people will be helped, but to categorically find that an entire county is poverty stricken and people starving cannot be supported by official inquiry. But seemingly is can be readily determined by a group made up principally of professionals in other parts of the country who must labor with imagination and general statistics to prove their case."

DOORS OPEN AT ONE TODAY—These doors will be opened at 1 p.m. today (Thursday) to welcome customers back to Winn's, a longtime popular shopping spot in Hamlin. Winn's store, destroyed by fire Dec. 23, 1967, is now in a new building, larger than the original one, and many aisles of new merchandise await the public. Some thirty-five Winn's officials and employees from other cities have been busy this week stocking the store.

County Demos Back Connally, Smith Saturday

The Jones County Democratic Convention approved four resolutions Saturday by unanimous votes. They included naming Gov. John Connally as favorite son abiding by unit rule, endorsing Preston Smith for Governor and honoring former Democratic chairman Louis T. Johnson.

Leon Thurman was elected chairman by the 50 delegates attending the convention and named the following as delegates to the state convention: Cong. Omar Burleson, State Sen. David Ratliff, Thurman, A. J. Smith, Olin Amerson, and Si Addington.

Serving on the committees from Hamlin were: C. F. Cook, on resolutions and Bob Craig, chairman of credentials.

Others attending from this area were Mrs. Amerson, Stanley Jackson, John Scarborough, Bill Scott and A. B. Carlton.

TOP STUDENTS — Jayne Carol Turner, with a grade point average of 94.086, is valedictorian of the Class of 1968. Agustin Barron Jr. is salutatorian with an average of 94.075. Jayne is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Turner. Agustin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Agustin Barron Sr.

Vote Nears On Cotton Allotment Transfers

Cotton growers in Jones County were reminded today that the period May 14 through May 17 is the time for voting on whether a cotton farmer may sell or lease his farm's 1969 cotton allotment outside the county (but within the State). A "yes" vote by at least two-thirds of the county's cotton farmers who vote in the referendum will permit such transfers for 1969.

J. E. Nix, Chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, explains that a grower is eligible to vote in the referendum if he produces upland cotton in the county. Ballots have been mailed to all known cotton producers, and any cotton producer who did not receive one by mail is urged to get in touch immediately with the ASCS county office.

The ballot may be mailed in or brought to the county office at any time within the voting period, but the Chairman emphasized that the ballot must be in the county office by the close of business — or it must be postmarked by midnight — on May 17 and it must arrive at the county office before ballots are counted on May 22.

The vote will not affect the transfer of upland cotton allotments by sale or lease from one farm to another within the same county, and it will not affect transfer across county lines (within the same State) from one farm to another owned or controlled by the same person as provided by regulations. Both of these kinds of transfers are already provided by law.

The Chairman pointed out that similar referendums have been conducted during the past 3 years, and growers in 95 counties throughout the Cotton Belt have already approved such transfers for the 1969 crop. The first such vote conducted, however — in 1965 — covered only the 1966-68 crops, so the vote this year will be held in all counties where such transfers have not previously been approved for 1969, including those where transfers were approved in the 1965 vote.

If more than a third of the growers voting in the referendum vote "no," sales and leases of cotton allotments outside the county may not be made for the 1969 upland cotton crop.

Thomas Goolsby Receives Eagle Award Monday

Thomas Goolsby, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Goolsby, received the Eagle Scout award Monday evening at a court of honor held in primary cafeteria.

Participating in the presentation were his parents, his grandmother, Mrs. J. T. Hester and his sister, Mrs. Jimmy Wainscott of Abilene. They were escorted to the platform by Eagle Scouts Mike Young, Bill Johnson, Gil Lain and Chris Perrin.

J. O. Murphree, longtime Scout worker here, presented the Eagle award which was pinned by Thomas' mother. The neckerchief was placed on him by his father.

Murphree told the award recipient that he should recognize those who had helped him in acquiring his goal, but further, he should realize that there were many for him to help also. He added, this is just the beginning.

Bennie Young, Scout executive from Abilene, told Thomas, "The badge does not just show what you have done but what you are capable of doing."

Guests at the court of honor included Jimmy Wainscott, Abilene, Ted Seay, scoutmaster, Scouts and friends.

Winn's to Open Today At 1 p.m.

The Grand Opening of Winn's Variety Store has been set for 1 p.m. today (Thursday), according to M. L. Bolen, vice president in charge of retail sales. The store will open in a brand new 134 x 50 foot building with all new merchandise.

The local store was destroyed in the Christmas Eve fire here that burned three stores to the ground and damaged several others. Work on the new air conditioned building started here the first part of March but was delayed by bad weather. The building was under the supervision of Bill Grooms of San Antonio.

The grand opening will be marked by specials in every department, according to Charles Reed, store manager. A drawing will be held during the opening for a portable TV.

The new store will feature several new lines of merchandise as well as expansion of regular lines, says L. M. Peace, superintendent. New lines include drapery, framed painting reproductions and lamp shades. Expanded lines include casual shoes, pet supplies, domestic flowers, piece goods and ready to wear.

Roy D. Spears, president of Winn's Stores, Inc., is proud of this new store in Hamlin and said that the area is active, growing and progressive. Spears stated that, "Winn's Stores are Texas-owned and Texas-managed. We want to offer the finest facilities, merchandise and values to the families who live and work here. Through volume-buying, we can purchase quality merchandise at low cost, and pass the savings right along to our customers in Hamlin."

"Winn's have come a long way," according to Lynn H. Spears, vice president, who recalls that in 1947 there were 12 stores and a warehouse. "Now," continues Spears, "there is a total of 97 stores, and a new 63,000 square foot warehouse in San Antonio."

Winn's will be open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. each day.

Chrysler Newport now priced about $2.29 a month more than a Chevy Caprice* (which is still a Chevy, a high-price, low-price car). Chrysler Newport now priced about $3.78 a month more than a Ford LTD* (which is still a Ford, a high-price, low-price car). That little more now moves you up into a big, full-size, almost shamefully elegant Chrysler—and that's an unbeatable deal. Afford a Chrysler? Can you afford to pass it up?

*Based on comparison of manufacturers' suggested retail prices for Chrysler Newport, Ford LTD and Chevrolet Caprice 2-dr. hardtops, comparably equipped. With 3-speed automatic transmission, power brakes, power steering, radio, white side wall tires, wheel covers. MEANDERINGS FROM

Neinda

By GREG

Monday, May 13
After four or five weeks of pretty weather, it would appear that we are in for a wet spell again, however, I don't think you will hear many complaints about the rain. Quite a few farmers who have been putting down chemicals to control weeds were about to run out of surface moisture and were in need of rain to start their planting.

Several fields in this area still had spots a tractor could not get through because of moisture rising to the surface. Yet, in the same field, there was hardly enough surface moisture to plant. I don't think there is a farmer in this area who has escaped having at least one tractor stuck and sometimes more. This has been almost a daily occurrence.

Looks like we are in for a repeat performance as up to this writing my rain gauge totals 2.6 inches since Friday, and there seems to be more on the way.

I think this moisture will definitely help mature our wheat crops and looks like we will have at least an average crop this year.

I have heard a few reports of some making as high as 40 to 50 bushels, but have not seen any of these fields. I do hope these predictions hold true.

This weather has been perfect for the farmers who managed to get their grain sorghums planted and up.

Despite the fact it was pouring down rain Sunday, we had a very good attendance for church and Sunday School and were happy to welcome back our pastor and his wife, Rev. Frank and Sue Codington, who had been in California for the Baptist Crusade the past two weeks. Bro. Frank visited in several rural homes while there and tells of one farmer who owned five acres of land on which he raised almonds, peaches and apricots. This farmer bought his water from the local water supply corporation and was prone to fuss about his $6 two months water bill for flooding his ground with five inches of water once a week. Wish we had his problems.

Sunday, being Mother's Day, our church honored the oldest mother, Mrs. Brown, mother of Mrs. Homer Neal. The youngest mother, Mrs. Tommy Self, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Hardy, was also honored. Both received beautiful corsages.

Sunday night the G. A. girls presented their Coronation Service for the congregation. The girls advancing and receiving charms for their work in G. A.'s included Karen Jackson, Sandra Stanford, Terrie Gregory, Latrese Williams, Janice Hardy, Mignon Williams, Carolyn Stanford, Carla Stanford, Sonja Williams, and Tracy Gregory.

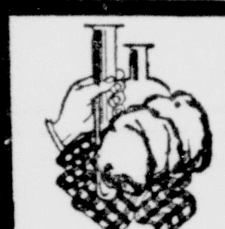

We are proud of these girls and the ones who work with them. Mrs. Tommy Self, their leader, Mrs. Jackie Williams, WMS president, and Reba Jackson, pianist.

We would like to also mention that Reba is presenting her senior recital Sunday May 19 at 3 p.m. at the Neinda Baptist Church and everyone is invited.

We are glad to see John R. Brown Sr. and Mr. J. L. Weaver are out of the hospital and on the mend.

The J. J. Stanford family made a whirlwind trip to Lubbock to spend Mother's Day with their son, Zane, at Texas Tech. They came back through Rotan and picked up his mother, Mrs. Homer Stanford.

ROLLING PLAINS COTTON GROWERS INC.

Rolling Plains cotton farmers have signed up to divert 331,167 of the 1,181,552 acres allotted to them for planting in 1968, a survey by the Rolling Plains Cotton Growers Inc. disclosed this week.

This is 28% of the acreage allotted to area farmers and compares with 24.6 per cent diverted by producers throughout the state.

Of the state's total allotment of 6,091,717 acres, producers signed up to divert 1,497,908 acres during the March sign-up period.

Maximum total acreage in the Rolling Plains that may be planted in 1968 under the diversion program is 820,382 acres. Based on projected yields determined for the 32 counties in RPCG, the estimated potential production for the area is 418,102 bales.

The survey shows that farmers in Fisher County signed up to divert 26,965 of their 78,458-acre allotment, (34.4 per cent) for the highest percentage of diversion in the RPCG.

Bids, Legals P

PUBLIC BID
The Hamlin Independent School District is advertising for bids on the following building.

One wooden frame building with asbestos siding. This is a cottage type building. It was used for a homemaking department at the DePriest School. It is now being used for the Music Room on the Junior High School campus. This building has cabinets space on two walls; also, one restroom with commode and lavatory, two closets for storage and panel ray heater. It can make three room by partitioning walls. The air-conditioners do not go with building.

Buildings must be moved by July 1, 1968.

Bids are to be turned in to Bill Harbert or to Superintendent C. F. Cook. The Board reserves the right to turn down all bids. A check or money order must accompany bids.

Bill Harbert,
President of Board

Second highest diversion percentage (33.7) was recorded by farmers in Mitchell County. Of their 64,190-acre allotment, they put 21,632 acres, into the diversion program.

Taylor County farmers, with a total of 31,629-acre allotment, were third with 10,286 acres, 32 per cent.

Lowest percentage of diversion, 15.3 per cent, was registered by producers in Tom Green County. They placed only 7,980 acres of their 52,243-acre allotment into the program. Second lowest was registered by farmers in Concho County, who agreed to divert 3,939 of their 23,738-acre allotment, or 16.8 per cent.

Haskell County farmers, with an allotment of 112,276 acres, the highest of 32 counties in RPCG, placed 30,648 acres into the diversion program for a 27.3 percentage figure. The county's projected yield is placed at 324 pounds to the acre, giving the county a potential of 55,098 bales, the highest bale volume in the area for 1968.

Jones County, with an estimated potential of 44,789 bales (181 pounds to the acre) off its 32,127 acres, has the second highest possible total output of the 32 county area.

Knox County, which takes in the high-yielding irrigated acreage around Munday, has a county-wide projected yield of only 295 pounds, which gives it a potential of 23,212 bales from the 37,770-acre maximum that may be planted. Knox farmers signed up to divert 13,799 of their 51,569-acre allotment, or 26.8 per cent of eligible acreage.

Scurry County farmers own the highest projected yield figure, 449 pounds to the acre, in the RP.

McCulloch County, with 161 pounds, is the lowest and Coleman County, with 168 pounds is second.

Tom Green, Jones and Runnels counties each still had some 1967 cotton in the fields 10 days ago. Elsewhere farmers in the Rolling Plains were experiencing difficulty getting land ready to plant to the 1968 crop, due to excessive moisture in their fields.

Fertilization Needed for Top Quality Hay Yields, Agent Warns

For top yields of high quality hay, adequate fertilization is a must, says Jones County Agricultural Agent Kirby Clayton. Moisture alone will not do the job. He suggests a soil test as a guide to proper fertilization. Don't expect high quality forage nor good growth rates from hay crops which lack adequate plant food, emphasizes Clayton. Though soil moisture is good now, the situation can change in a hurry and proper fertilization, he explains, will help the plants more efficiently utilize available soil moisture.

The timing of harvest is also important in the production of quality forage. Quality goes down rapidly, explains the agent, as hay crops reach the mature stage of growth. Bermudagrass should be harvested after about four weeks of growth. Sudan hybrids, Johnsongrass and others should be harvested, he adds, before seed heads are formed. This growth stage is reached also after about four weeks of growth.

Research has shown that the performance of animals receiving the hay is directly influenced by its quality. High animal performance comes from feeding high quality hay and drops off as quality declines, says Clayton.

Farmers Union Directors Push for Farm Programs

The Board of Directors of Texas Farmers Union, meeting in regular session at San Antonio last week, asked members of Congress from Texas and USDA officials to take action on several important matters affecting Texas agriculture, according to John Scarborough, Board member and president of Jones County Farmers Union.

The governing unit of the statewide general farm organization, representing 110 organized county units in Texas, asked member of the Texas congressional delegation to bring about the extension of the 1965 Farm Act as a "priority matter, which should be acted upon without delay."

Texas congressmen and senators were asked to carefully study some of the amendments to the 1965 Act which have been proposed by various groups and USDA to determine whether or not they are in "the long-time best interest of family farmers, and will increase net producer income."

The Farmers Union Board urged members of Congress to support the Mondale Bargaining Bill and to speak out

Organized Drive Starts To Increase Cotton Use

Stamford — "Cotton has more to offer in appearance, comfort, maintenance, and durability than any other fiber," Charles W. Stenholm of Stamford pointed out here today at an organizational meeting to get more cotton products stocked and sold in local stores.

He said the meeting is one of the first in an intensive campaign to increase sales of cotton products across the Cotton Belt. The effort is being organized through the framework of the Cotton Producers Institute and the National Cotton Council.

Present at the meeting were cotton industry members and representatives of allied groups, suppliers, and educational institutions and services.

A handbook prepared by the National Cotton Council was described in detail. It suggests procedures to assist local groups in promoting cotton through retailers, industry organizations, and women's clubs.

It also describes available materials such as newspaper ad layouts, kits for schools, billboard sheets, bumper strips, and lists to guide buyers in stocking cotton products.

Neinda Philosopher Up In Arms Over A Plan To Photograph His Farm In Detail by Satellite

Editor's note: The Neinda Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Route One seems a little riled up this week, but he'll get over it. It takes too much effort to stay riled up.

Dear editor:

I wasn't doing anything but taking a slow Spring walk through my pasture out here and considering how lucky man is that changes in the seasons aren't left up to a government negotiating committee when I stumbled over a copy of the Sunday issue of The Reporter-News and since it was as good a place as any to sit down I sat down and looked it over. I'm not sure I should have.

Over on an inside page I ran across an article that reported that scientists are working on an orbiting satellite that can take such accurate pictures of the earth's surface, so sharp and precise, that you can look at them and examine a man's whole farm in a glance. Even tell what's growing, how well it's doing, and whether insects are bothering it.

This is the type of progress worth leading a march against, although generally speaking the sit-down strike is more to my nature, if you can do it at home in the shade.

The last thing I want is somebody taking photographs of my farm showing in detail the condition of my crops. It'd be like sending a satellite over a bank photographing the state of everybody's checking account.

The amount of Johnson grass and weeds I have on my farm comes under the head of my business. What you can see from the road looking over into it is all you're entitled to know about it, and if that part doesn't suit you, here's a hoe.

I can see the time come when the bureaucrats would hit on the idea of photographing everybody's farm once a week, say on Friday, and on Monday you'd get an eight page letter of instructions telling you what you're doing wrong.

"Dear J. A.," it would read, "We have this week's photograph of your farm and we photographing - by - satellite business. If not stopped, they might get around to photographing your desk.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Fertilizer Test Plots Established by Extension Service

A Grain Sorghum and Cotton Fertilizer demonstration was established this past week on the Clyde Wright Farm south of Anson. The demonstration plots were established jointly by the Local County Agricultural Agent and the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Chillicothe and Mr. Clyde Wright.

The fertilizer demonstration consists of fourteen different rates of fertilizer, replicated over four times to compensate for any land variations which may occur in this field. The replications were established on both cotton and grain sorghum.

County Agent Kirby Clayton says that the demonstration will be observed on the annual Field Day in July and results will be printed in the Jones County Result Demonstration Handbook.

Old cotton gloves make ideal cleaning gloves. For instance, when you clean a crystal chandelier, you'll save time by wiping fixtures with both gloved hands, dipped in ammonia water.

Judge Thomas Bent On Cleaning Up Court Docket

Judge Owen Thomas of 104th District Court seems bent upon having little or no unfinished business when he steps out of office the last of this year.

Approximately 60 civil suits have been dismissed for lack of prosecution. With few exceptions, the suits are for divorce. Many of them have been filed at a later date.

The judge wrote letters in the cases involved, saying, "It is my intention to dismiss cases which have been on the docket for a considerable period of time without prosecution."

He asked attorneys to get the case ready for trial or to ask for dismissal.

District Clerk W. L. McDonald said that the judge was reviewing all the docket and that letters would go out shortly in other cases.

Judge Thomas is not a candidate for re-election.

State Officials Warn Boaters Of Approved Jackets

AUSTIN — A life saving device not Coast Guard approved is not in compliance with the Texas Water Safety Act, says enforcement officials of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

"Our game management officers are continually issuing tickets to boaters who are totally unaware of what the law specifies, and carry unapproved devices in the boat, thinking they are in compliance with the law."

There are many types of vests, cushions, and belts for sale that may be termed "life preservers," but not all of them meet the requirements of the Act.

A life preserver, stamped and labeled "Coast Guard Approved" and affixed with an approval number, must be carried for each occupant in the boat.

Some illegal flotation devices have been found with the words "Coast Guard Approved," stamped on the plastic sales bag; but this alone is not enough.

Boaters should use care in buying their preservers, and they should obtain information concerning the law to be sure their equipment meets all the requirements.

Four Abilene Christian College students had dinner at the City Park Sunday as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bonner. They were Lorraine and Raylene Bonner of Long Island, N. Y., Gary Blasingame of Stephenville and Doug Tucker of Illinois.

Fair weather and a backlog of field work on the part of most farmers combined to keep the attendance low at the 34th Annual Stockholders meeting of Rolling Plains PCA, held in Stamford Saturday.

Limited Budget No Handicap At HemisFair With Many Free Shows

SAN ANTONIO, — A limited budget is no handicap to HemisFair visitors. In fact, a family of four can have the time of their lives on a $10 bill at the World's Fair.

This budgeted tour includes two youngsters, chicken dinner for mother, dad and admission for mother, dad and ners for the parents and hamburgers for the kids and a host of memorable attractions.

Food prices on the grounds have drawn raves from early visitors to the international exposition, and the multitude of free attractions have surprised many veteran world's fairgoers.

Each of the 100 restaurants and food stop-overs on the 92.6-acre grounds has posted its prices on the outside, and the sensible costs have proved an enticement to bring customers inside.

Hot dogs are 35 cents, hamburgers are 45 cents and a chicken dinner complete with french fries can be enjoyed for 97 cents.

The $10 visit to the six-month World's Fair can include each of these free attractions:

The Flying Indians of Mexico, performing their 400-year-old ritual by climbing to the top of a 114-foot pole and gliding down with a rope around their waists. This electrifying show is performed four times daily at the Pepsi-Cola - Frito-Lay Pavilion.

The famous Marty and Sid Krofft Puppets performing in an already smash hit marionette show at the Coca Cola Pavilion.

Any combination film and live actor magic show featuring magician Mark Wilson at the Bell Pavilion and a tour of the telephone exhibit featuring picture telephones, computer age guessers and a kiddyland with telephone conversations with famous cartoon characters.

The Mercury Water Ski Show on the Fiesta Lagoon where boats pull skiers at high speeds over ramps, around corners and through difficult maneuvers.

These are all free. And, there is much more for the budget-minded traveler.

Mariachis sing and play near the Mexico Pavilion, groups of actors perform on the grounds, bands perform concerts at the amphitheater, youngsters talk, listen, dance, paint and join in a variety of entertainment at Project Y. These too are free.

There are also visits to the governmental pavilions, also at no charge, to see such things as a Belgian diamond being cut; the imagination of the Swiss in building an interesting airplane that runs like a clock; a working scale model of the Panama Canal; computers at work and play at International Business Machines and RCA exhibits.

And, movies of every description, each with its own unique twist are free to the visitor. General Electric has a two-act musical show, Ford features a theatre-in-the-round, and Mexico has used mirrors and movies to present a unique but most interesting look at the country.

There is also the $6.75 million United States Pavilion with its exhibit hall and movie by Academy Award winner Francis Thompson, and the State of Texas' entry, the $10 million Institute of Texan Cultures, telling the story of the Lone Star State from its birth to today.

It is all free, and its just a sample — showing that the family of four can visit the World's Fair on $10.

PLACIDITY

"Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on thee. Because he trusteth in thee." Isaiah 26:3

"The peace of God, which passeth all understanding, shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus." Phillipians 4:7

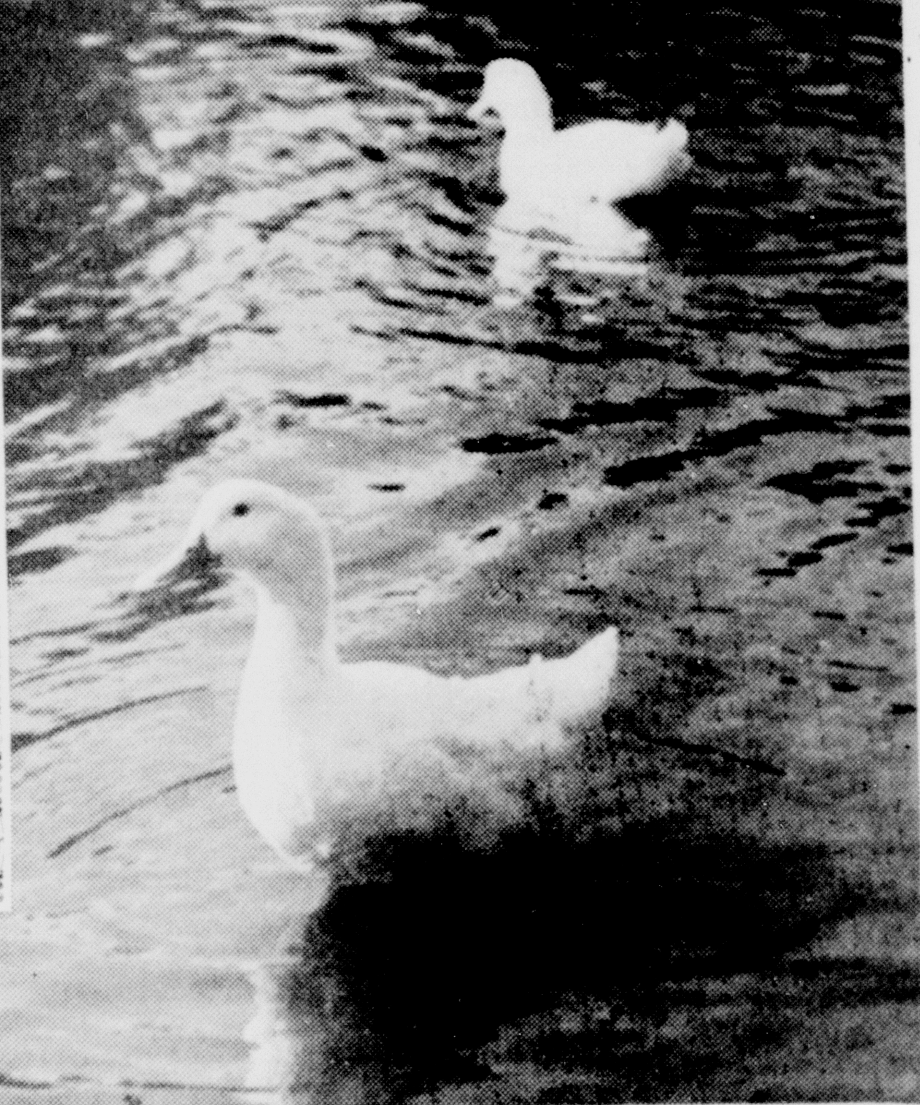

God has never promised life without trouble nor progress without striving. He has, however, promised that amid the tumult and strife He would give us an inner peace if we let Him live in our hearts.

Learn about this unusual peace offered to all freely.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny, the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

WEST TEXAS UTILITIES
AN INVESTOR OWNED ELECTRIC COMPANY

AUSTIN. — Presently there are two major topics of speculation in capitol corridors:

1. When will Gov. John Connally call the legislature into special session?

2. Who will win the gubernatorial runoff race — Conservative Preston Smith or Liberal Don Yarborough?

As for Item No. 1, Governor Connally must call the lawmakers back to the capitol by mid-June at the latest to pass a 1969 budget and a new tax bill ranging in the $125,000,000 a year bracket. Congressional approval of the 10 per cent federal income tax surcharge may drive the state requirement even higher. This because a reduction in income will affect the sales tax revenue in Texas.

Legislators mention June 4, June 10 and June 11 as probable starting dates. Rumors were widespread at last week's Legislative Budget Board meeting that Connally was considering calling the session before the June 1 runoff election.

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith told reporters that he feels it will be "difficult" for the legislature to pass a major bill in a 30-day special session, starting cold.

House Appropriations Committee Chairman W. S. Healy of Paducah noted that never before have lawmakers been called to pass a complete general appropriations bill in a bottled session. He said he would like to start his committee to work unofficially on budget proposals even before the session begins, in hope of meeting the deadline.

As if the legislature did not have its hands full with financial matters, liquor-by-the-drink advocates are urging Connally to submit that red hot issue to the special session. Passage of a May 4 referendum favoring mixed-drink sales by a narrow margin added impetus for early consideration by legislators.

Smith and key lawmakers feel that the referendum was not conclusive enough numerically to be of any great benefit in winning legislative approval of mixed drink sales.

As for Item No. 2, Smith and Yarborough now are engaged in a runoff battle to determine who will be the Democratic candidate for governor of Texas.

Yarborough led by 36,000 votes in the first primary. But Smith quickly picked up the wholehearted endorsements of third place candidate Waggoner Carr and fifth place runner Eugene Locke.

Classic liberal-conservative lines are drawn in the Yarborough-Smith clash. Researchers contend that continuing disinterest and a light turnout on June 1 could prove disastrous to Smith.

Republican gubernatorial nominee Paul Eggers, who won hands down in a light-vote GOP primary, plans a serious, well financed general election campaign against the winner of the Yarborough-Smith runoff.

Ben Barnes won the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor over two opponents, State Rep. Don Gladden and former Rep. Gene Smith, both of Fort Worth. Barnes' near-record majority (exceeding 75 per cent) means that he will be a key figure in the state government during the next two years.

District Judges Tom Reavley of Austin and Sears McGee of Houston are new justices-elect of the State Supreme Court. They won Democratic nomination and are unopposed by Republicans.

VETERAN DPS CHIEF DIES — Col. Homer Garrison Jr., 66, Texas' top police officer and head of the vast Department of Public Safety for 30 years, died of cancer. All of the state's highest officials joined in mourning his loss.

"He was one of the most capable and effective law enforcement administrators in America," said Governor Connally. "Under his leadership, the Texas Department of Public Safety has become recognized throughout the nation as a symbol of law and order. Its reputation will live as a personal tribute to Colonel Garrison."

Wilson E. Speir is serving as acting director of DPS.

KINDERGARTEN STANDARDS — For the first time, the State Board of Education has adopted professional standards for Texas kindergarten teachers. This step could be in direction of recent suggestions of public, state-supported kindergartens.

Board also took note of the state's desegregation problems by approving the appointment of two more staff members to the Texas Education Agency to work solely with local school districts in complying with federal law and court decisions on the subject.

Also getting the Board's endorsement was a preliminary plan to study how best to make use of Texas' educational manpower and to assess pupil needs. Study is being made in conjunction with the U. S. Office of Education to help TEA coordinate programs supported by some $129,000,000 in federal funds.

SHORT SNORTS
Constitutional revision committee suggests that Texas' top state appellate judges be appointed rather than elected.

General revenue fund dipped into the red to the tune of $73,200,000 on May 1, but will be coming up soon with franchise and quarterly sales tax collections, says State Comptroller, Robert S. Calvert.

American Party of Texas now claims a membership of 90,000 or nearly six times the needed 14,000 strength to get Alabama George Wallace on the November ballot as a presidential candidate.

Legislative Budget Board has recommended a $657,000 appropriation to build and equip a veterinary diagnostic laboratory on the Texas A & M University campus.

Democratic and Republican executive committees met here Tuesday (May 14) to canvass statewide primary election returns.

Kyle Thompson, veteran UPI newsman who broke in on the Wichita Falls Record-News, is new press secretary to Governor Connally.

During the month of March, 1,873 criminal complaints were filed by the Liquor Control Board, with 1,688 convictions, nine jail sentences and fines totalling $61,236.

State Auditor George W. McNiel named Lee H. Ashmore of Fort Worth as First Assistant State Auditor.

Attorney General Martin has ruled that it is illegal for commercial airlines to serve liquor or beer on flights over Texas.

Also Attorney General Martin reports that his office won 261 lawsuits out of 263 cases tried in April. During the fiscal year 2,297 cases were won by the state and 54 lost. A total of 3,132 cases still are pending.

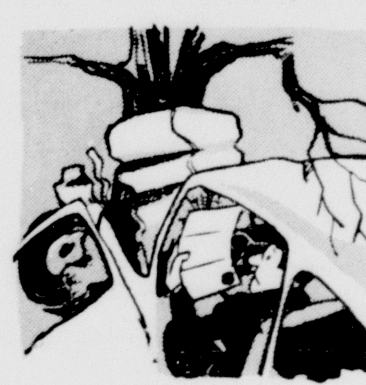

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Instant Insurance

Step Number One, after you buy a car, is to buy insurance. But it might take the insurance company several days—or even several weeks—to consider your application. In the meantime, the company may give you a "binder" for temporary protection.

How good is a binder? Does it really protect you in case of an accident?

Generally speaking, a court will indeed enforce a binder—even an oral one (although that kind is harder for you to prove). While a binder lacks most of the details to be found in a formal insurance policy, the courts are willing to read in what is missing—provided that can be done with reasonable accuracy.

Consider this case:

A motorist was involved in an accident shortly after taking out a binder for "10-10" liability coverage. In a court test, this was held to mean that the man had coverage of $10,000 for each accident and $10,000 for each injury—because that is how such a phrase would ordinarily be understood in the insurance business.

On the other hand, your binder probably will not stand up in court if it leaves some essential fact in real doubt. Omitting the amount of coverage, or the type, or the term, could mean that a court would have to use guesswork to figure out what the parties had in mind. Then, the binder would lack that "meeting of the minds" necessary to constitute a legal contract.

Furthermore, a binder, just like a formal insurance policy, may be cancelled in most states if it was obtained by false representations.

In one case a motorist, applying for a binder, was asked if he had had any traffic violations in the preceding three years. His answer was "No."

But after he had a collision, the insurance company found out that his answer should have been "Yes." In fact, his record showed no less than five moving violations in the three-year period.

Result: no insurance protection. As the judge put it, his deception was "material to the risk"—that is, important enough for the insurance company to have turned down his application if it had known the truth.

Your Camera Remembers...

Today, the family setting off on vacation without a camera is unusual — or forgetful. Instant-load cameras, flash cubes, and automatic — almost — everything make photography so easy that anyone can produce happy memories on film.

To make your vacation memorable and re-memorable, camera experts offer a few tips:

1. It is fun to view the results of several photographers. The vacation comes alive again — as seen by different members of the family. Therefore, it's a good idea to have more than one camera on hand, if possible. A carefree one for Junior . . . a basic model for Mother — easy to use and to focus . . . and a modern wonder for Dad, with automatic electric eye and a view-finder which incorporates shutter speed, focus and a "ready" light.

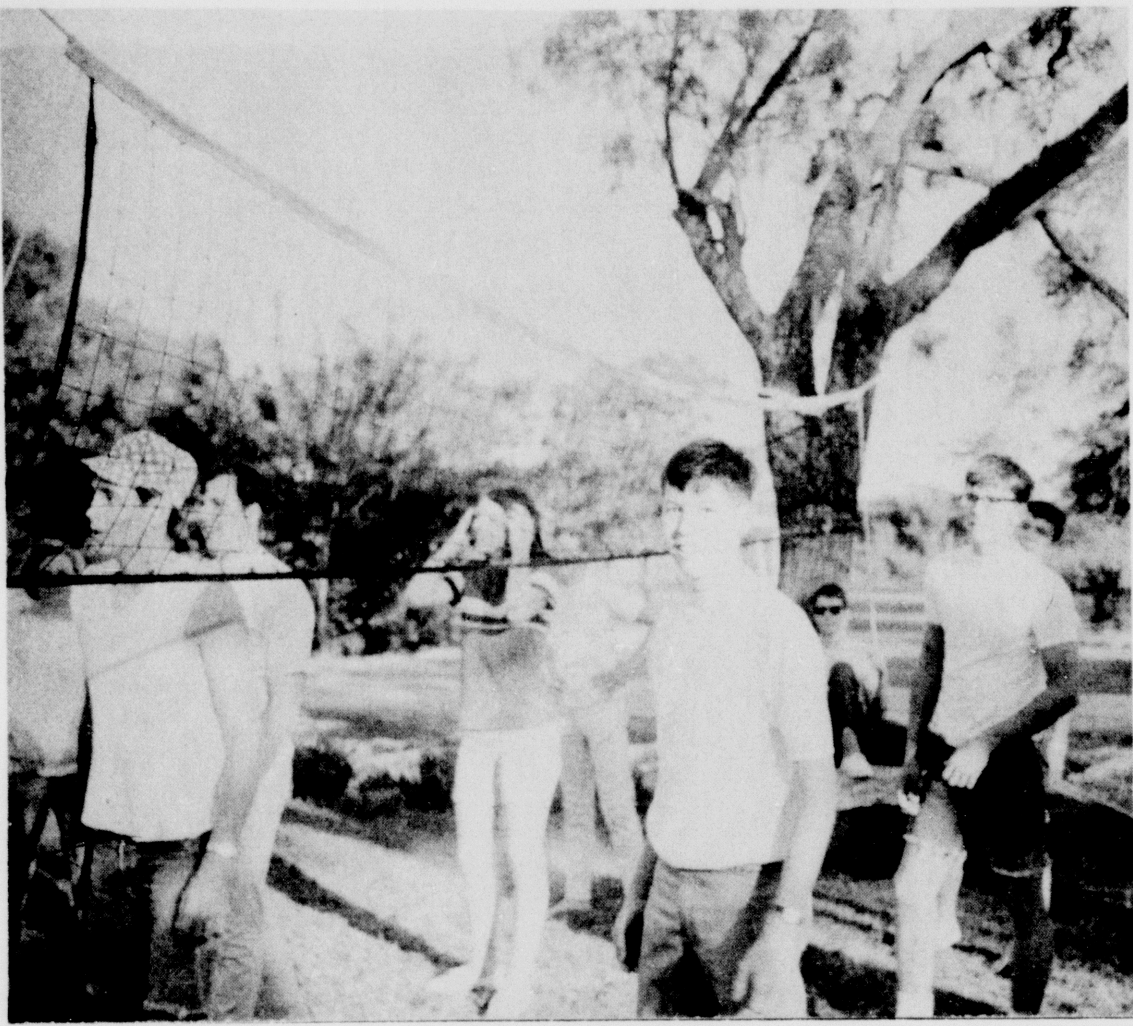

2. Concentrate on slides. It's more fun to see them through a viewer (or, even better, a projector) than to look at an album. And color slides are less expensive than color prints.

3. If you have a projector, as any camera-happy family should, get the kind that can show (and store) lots of slides. Roundabouts hold up to one hundred. This makes it possible for you to set up an uninterrupted story sequence.

4. When you do transfer slides from projector or viewer, clip a tiny triangle from one corner of the frame. Line up the notches, and the slides come out right side up.

5. Above all, remember that only your camera can put you right back in the picture. Post-holiday, a screening takes you back to sunshine, seashore, mountains, whatever.

Special Stamp To Commemorate Law, Order Issued

A six cent Law and Order Commemorative postage stamp will be issued May 17 by the Post Office Department to coincide with observance of National Police Week May 12-18.

The Postmaster General states that the purpose of the stamp is to reaffirm the traditional role of the law enforcement officers as a protector and friend of the citizens he serves. The stamp is also intended to encourage upgrading the quality and training of law enforcement officers at the local level.

The stamp was designed by Ward Brackett of Westport, Conn. It depicts a uniformed officer and a young boy walking hand in hand printed in blue, the vertical words, "Law and Order" in red and the words "United States Postage" and the denomination, six cents, in black.

To give windows a really elegant look, cover curtain rods with the same fabric that's used for draperies. For rods, use the heavy wooden poles that are so popular now. The fabric can be stapled or glued around the poles.

Hints On What to Do In Tornado Alert Given by Safety Association

AUSTIN. — If you grew up in Texas 30 years ago, probably you "went to the cellar" when Spring storms gathered. There you waited in the dampness among Grandma's jelly and jammed-filled Mason jars until the anticipated blow (which frequently did not materialize) was over.

Ever, though the safest place to be during a tornado is still in a cave or storm cellar, there are few cellars remaining even in rural areas of the state. And, the days of tornado-watching and forecasting by the head of the household are about over. Texans today depend on local weather bureaus to alert them to any approaching danger from tornadoes.

However, the Texas Safety Association warns the same danger is present in today's tornadoes as yesterdays. Weather alerts do give that extra margin of time that may mean the difference between life and death, but it's still up to every individual to take the safety measures necessary to protect himself in a tornado.

The Safety Association, which also reminds Texas that it's tornado time from now through September in Texas, offers these tips for survival in a tornado:

If you are in open country: Move at right angles to the tornado's path. Tornadoes usually move ahead at about 25 to 40 miles per hour.

If there is no time to escape, lie flat in the nearest depression such as a ditch or ravine.

If you are in a city or town:

Seek inside shelter, preferably along the inside walls on the lower floors of a steel reinforced building. Stay away from windows.

If you are at home in a frame-type house, the southwest corner of the lowest floor, especially a basement, offers the greatest protection. People living in a brick or stone home should find other shelter.

If time permits before a storm strikes, turn off the gas and electricity in your home. Open doors and windows on the north east side of the house to help reduce damage to the building from outdoor pressure differences.

If you are in a school building:

In city areas: If the school building is of strongly reinforced construction, stay inside, away from windows. Remain near an inside wall on the lower floors when possible. Avoid auditoriums and gymnasiums with large, poorly supported roofs.

In rural schools: If the school building does not have strong reinforced construction, remove children and teachers to a ravine or ditch if storm shelter is not available.

If in an industrial plant:

Upon receiving a tornado warning, post a lookout to keep safety officials advised of the tornado's approach. Advance preparation should be made for shutting off electrical circuits and fuel lines if the tornado approaches the plant. Workers should be moved to sections of the plant offering the greatest protection.

Anywhere that you are:

Keep calm. It does not help to get excited. People have been killed by running out into streets and by turning back into the path of a tornado.

Even though a warning is issued, the chances of a tornado striking one's home or location are slight. As a rule, tornadoes cover such a small area that relatively only a few places in a warned area are affected. However, you should know what to do "just in case."

Keep tuned to your radio or television station for latest tornado advisory information. Do not call the Weather Bureau, except to report a tornado, as your request may tie up telephone lines urgently needed to receive special reports or to relay advisories to radio and television stations for dissemination to thousands in the critical area.

For those who are still fortunate enough to have a storm cellar, the Safety Association has this advice:

Be sure you have an air outlet to equalize the air pressure.

Keep cellar fit for use — free from water, gas or debris.

Keep pick and shovel handy in case you have to dig out.

Call your news to the Herald.

County Agent Says Wheat Leaf Rust Main Talk Among Farmers

Wheat leaf rust and how it will affect yields is one of the main topics of conversation among Jones County farmers, says County Agent Kirby Clayton. The rust, says Clayton, is caused by a fungus parasite and is favored by prolonged periods of cool wet weather. It usually becomes established in the fall and increases in intensity with long periods of cool wet weather.

In normal years with average rainfall, growers consider the disease of little importance. However, in years when conditions are right, photosynthetic tissue of the leaves are destroyed and yields are reduced considerably. Wheat, like other seed producing plants, requires so many healthy leaves to produce a healthy and full head. When the leaves have been damaged, yields are reduced accordingly, says the agent. Yields are reduced because of smaller seed and reduced setting in seed numbers.

As to control, Clayton says that there is no practical method of control this late in the season.

Manzate, zineb and dithane fungicides have been used with some degree of success in early growth stages of the wheat but in late season where most of the damage has occurred, growers cannot expect much results with fungicide application.

The fungicides must be applied on a five day schedule and each rain renders the fungicide ineffective. No more than three applications may be applied per season and the last application must be applied 26 days before harvest in order to comply with food and drug regulations.

Dr. I. M. Adkins, who is Foundation Seed Section at Texas A & M University, and Dr. Mulkey, Superintendent of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Chillicothe, both reported this week that the use of fungicides at this stage growth in the wheat plant would be both expensive and ineffective. Fertilized wheat or wheat that has been maintained in a good state of fertility should show some resistance, says Clayton.
